Student-body Presents Cup

Mr. G. G. Gilmer Acting-President of Student-body makes Presentation. This Cup One of Several Like Presents.

On last Thursday morning in chapel Mr. G. G. Gilmer, President of the Senior class, in behalf of the student-body presented to Dr. Riggs a beautiful silver cup as a token of the student-body's appreciation of his twenty-five years of service at Clemson College. This presentation came as a great surprise to the President. He responded to Mr. Gilmer's words, expressing his thanks for the cup and for the spirit of the corps that prompted such a move. This cup was only one of several like pieces of silver which the President received on the day of his anniversary. The faculty at a reception in the President's honor on Thursday evening presented him with a silver pitcher and goblet. The three executive officers of the college presented him with a beautiful silver sandwich tray. All of these presents came as a great surprise to Dr. Riggs, and at each presentation he was almost overcome with gratitude. The many telegrams which the President received on the day of his anniversary—a few of which are printed in the Tiger—were also a source of much gratification to him.

A quarter of a century is a long time, but when spent in useful work passes very quickly. May the next twenty-five years of your life be as

TIGERS LOSE TO AUBURN QUINTET

Clemson Loses in Basketball Tournament to old Rivals—Game Fast and Snappy

Last Friday, in the premier city of the South, the biggest races ever known in modern Southern basketball were begun. Fifteen teams representing the pick of all the Southern College and University Quints, met on a common field of battle in the spacious auditorium. The floor was a three thousand dollar, raised affair, so designed that the most perfect athlete could "strut his stuff" and not feel that he was in confined environments.

The Clemson Quint drew the Tiger Five from Auburn, and there two ancient rivals proceeded to do battle promptly at nine P. M. Friday. The game started off a little slow until both teams became used to the court. The points were about evenly distributed on both sides for the first ten minutes but about this period Auburn began picking up and the half ended with a six point margin on their side of the scoreboard—Auburn 18 Clemson 12. About the middle of the first half Coles was put out of the game for too many fouls. Henriquez was substituted at guard and played excellent ball for the remainder of the game.

During the second half the Auburn Tigers with a taste of victory came back strong, and the Tiger machine was unable to break up the terrible offense. The Purple and Gold fought stubbornly and nobly but the Auburnites gradually increased the lead which they had obtained after such a hard fight during the first half. The game ended 45 to 25 in favor of the Plainsmen.

"Red" Newman, at center, was the outstanding feature of the game and played like he has never played before. "Red" was accredited, by the sport writer of Atlanta, as being the best individual basketball player seen during the tournament up to that time.

Two-Stripers Give Big Dance

Juniors Have the Most Enjoyable Dance of the Season—A Large Crowd of Fair Visitors Present—the Jungle Seven Furnished the Music.

On last Friday evening the lovers of the light fantastic again had their innings in the social life of the college. The occasion was the Junior Ball given by the class of '22. From the beginning of the Grand March shortly after nine until the last strains of "Home Sweet Home" at two, the gym was the scene of perfect ecstasy and merriment. Many dances have been given at Clemson, but never before has one received such an unanimous approval as did the Junior Ball. On all sides, praises of the dance could be heard both from the cadets and their fair partners. Speaking of the fair partners, surely the choice of South Carolina's beauty, with that of a number from other states were present.

The dance began with the Grand March led by Cadet Auten, the President of the Junior Dancing Club, and Miss Anna Pride. The march as well as the remainder of the dance was carried thru without a fault. Surely the sons and daughters of Terpsichore could not have carried a dance through its course more successfully than they did on this long to be remembered night. On the following morning, many of those present at the dance would have called it a dream had not the heaviness of their eyes and the weariness of their muscles told them that it was all too true.

The night was perfect, with a benignant moon peeping down over the surrounding hills and the thermometer standing at a most desirable point. The clouds of the morning had given way to the blue of a clear sky long before nightfall; accordingly, there was nothing in the weather to mar a perfect setting for a still more perfect dance.

The Jungle Seven, Tigertown's seven jazz artists, furnished the music for the dance. In the whirl of one steps, trots, and waltzes, that they played, the night slipped away all too quickly. Time after time the orchestra had to respond to the persistent encoring of the merry-makers. The music was as good as could be desired, and it is doubtful if a professional orchestra could have put more pep and gaiety into the dance. Clemson is to be congratulated on having such a good orchestra, and the Junior Dancing Club could not have secured better musicians from anywhere near.

the immense success of the dance was due to the large amount of work by the club officers and reception committee, to the perfect music by the Jungle Seven, and above all the large number of young ladies that graced the campus on this occasion.

The following couples were present: Miss Anna Pride of Greenville with Cadet J. F. Auten, President of the Junior Club; Miss Francis Marshall of Anderson with Cadet J. L. Scruggs; Miss Caroline Richardson of Greenville with Cadet W. M. Redfern; Miss Helen Sease of Winthrop with Cadet F. T. Perry; Miss Elizabeth Allen of Greenville

ANNIVERSARY OF PRES. HONORED

Teachers and Officers of the College Give Reception to President—Present him With Handsome Silver Pitcher and Goblet.

On last Thursday evening the teachers and officers of Clemson College gave a reception to Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Riggs, to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of Dr. Riggs' service at Clemson. The reception was held in the spacious rooms of the Y. M. C. A. building, and during the evening a large number of the faculty and friends in the community were present to offer congratulations to the president.

The guests were received in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. and presented to the receiving line, consisting of Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Riggs, Dr. and Mrs. R. N. Brackett, Prof. and Mrs. W. A. Morrison, and Prof. and Mrs. A. G. Shanklin. These members of the faculty had been at Clemson for at least twenty-five years.

The rooms of the "Y" were beautifully but simply decorated with ferns and palms and other potted plants. In the dining room, the table was decorated with white narcissus, white geranium, and fern.

During the evening the college orchestra played, and the time sped all too quickly. After the guests had assembled, Dr. Brackett, the oldest member of the faculty in point of service, in a fitting speech, presented Dr. Riggs with a handsome silver pitcher and goblet from the teachers and officers. This was accepted by Dr. Riggs who responded with a brief speech of thanks and appreciation.

Refreshment consisting of chicken salad, crackers and coffee were served at a late hour.

Despite the bad weather, quite a large crowd gathered at the reception during the evening.

INSPECTION BY ARMY OFFICER

The R. O. T. C. unit of Clemson College was inspected on Monday February 28th, by Lieutenant Colonel J. F. McKinley of the Fourth Corps Area. This was not the regular inspection which the unit has every spring, but was merely an inspection to see if the unit warranted an inspection from the General Staff. There were no changes made in the regular program.

Colonel McKinley inspected the Senior Military Science classes in Military Law, and the Junior Military Science classes in Field Engineering and Construction of double-lock bridges. He also made a visit to the President, visit to barracks, store room, target range, and maneuver grounds.

During the drill hour, the regiment passed in review on Bowman Field. The 1st Battalion was given a field problem; the 2nd Battalion executed close and extended order and Butt's manual; and the 3rd Battalion constructed a shelter tent camp.

Colonel McKinley seemed to be very favorably impressed by the unit. He very heartily commended the authorities for their excellent work.

Championship Goes To Sophs

The Sophs Defeated the Juniors 13 to 0, and Win Class Championship Zeigler is Outstanding Star—Entire Sophomore Team Fights Hard Sweedenberg Plays Best for the Juniors.

Well it is all over now but the shouting, and the Sophs surely did enough of that when they downed the strong Junior team to the tune of 13 to 0. The game started off in a way that made it known it was to be a hard battle from start to finish. The Sophomores received the ball and started down the field, but their rush did not last long, and it was only a few minutes later that they were forced to kick. Both teams punted a couple of times, and then something happened that was hard on the Juniors. The ball was in the possession of the Juniors on their twenty five yard line, someone fumbled and Woodie, the fast quarter, picked the pigskin up and fairly flew toward the Junior goal line. He was stopped on the six yard line and it was an easy matter to carry the pill over for the touchdown in four downs—especially when the Sophs had a driving half-back like Zeigler to carry it across. Zeigler then kicked the goal and the score was 7 to 0 in favor of the "Wise ones."

During the second quarter the Juniors played a much better brand of ball and it was seldom that the Sophomores made a first down. The older men however lacked the necessary drive and fight that it takes to result in a tally. During this period Dick Sweedenberg showed up well; and if there were a few more with the driving ability as this lad on the Junior team, the score possibly might have been a very different.

In the second half, the Sophomores came back strong, and they continually drove the Juniors back for gain after gain. They reached the seven yard line, and here the Juniors made a determined stand. Time after time the Sophs drove the line but when the ball was advanced only to the four yard line it was fourth down. The Sophomores saw that the old straght line plays would not work so they had to figure out another way to get across the line. With a little sucking in of an end and skirting the backfield man who was backing up the line, waiting for a buck, a little short end run did the work, and "Specks" Snead the fast half of the Sophomores crossed the line for the second tally. The try at goal failed and the score was 13 to 0 with the Sophs on the large end. No more scores were made, but when the final whistle blew to end the game the Sophomores were on the eight yard line and making continuous gains.

In naming the individuals stars of the game, we would have to put Zeigler at the top of the list. He was undoubtedly the best football man on the field (excepting Mr. Randle who was acting as umpire). When he was given the ball it was very seldom that he failed to make a good gain, and he drove the Junior line time after time for eight and ten yard gains. He was also good as a defense player, and the fact that he was backing up the line had a great deal to do with the

THANK GOD

"Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do that day which must be done, whether you like it or not. Being forced to work, and, forced to do your best, will breed in you temperance and self-control, diligence, and strength of will, cheerfulness and content, and a hundred virtues which the idle will never know."—Kingsley.

One more game of basketball for the varsity-five and spring athletics will be upon us. Baseball practice has gotten a running start, and the diamond-men give promise of having a winning team. Track prospects were never better than they are at this time; everything is working towards more prominence for the Tigers in intercollegiate athletics.

BE CAREFUL

Thoughtlessness many times takes hold upon us, and this seems to be the cause for a somewhat lack of reverence on the part of a few while grace is being said each day. The only requirement for perfect silence during these few moments before each meal is for everyone to remain absolutely quiet—an easy thing to do—something that everyone should do, and probably thinks that he does. The frequent stir that is heard during grace is proof of the fact that there are many whispering, mumbling, or moving around. This is done in all cases unconsciously, and in some instances because of the fact that the blessing cannot be heard over the entire mess-hall. This seeming lack of reverence can be obviated by coming to attention immediately upon the sound of the bugle.

Elsewhere in the Tiger is an article relating to the funds received by students in the last year and a half from the Y. M. C. A. These funds have been received by thousands of students in the United States, and the amount of good that they have done is immeasurable in dollars and cents. Over one-hundred of these scholarships have been received by Clemson students, much praise and thanks are due to Mr. Eugene R. Pendleton, State Supervisor, who has served the students of the State so effectively in connection with the Y. M. C. A. scholarships. The financial problem has been solved fairly easily for many needy students by these scholarships, as well as by the liberal commutations received from R. O. T. C. Headquarters.

Time is passing rapidly; don't put off too long preparing that oration for the State Oratorical Contest. The contestants in the triangular debate between Citadel, Carolina, their arguments as soon as possible. It is important that Clemson be well represented in both of these contests, and let's not let it be that lack of preparation will force us to take a second place. There are just a few Tigers here now who remember how proud all Clemson felt when one of her followers of Demosthenes received the highest laurels in the State Oratorical a few years ago.

Y. M. C. A. SCHOLARSHIPS AT CLEMSON

Large Number Clemson Men Given Financial Assistance..

Nearly a year and a half ago the Y. M. C. A. announced scholarships for ex-service men. These scholarships have been the means off helping many a boy to remain in college during the stringent times of the past few months. This fund set aside by the Y. M. C. A. was widely advertised through the newspaper and posters. As soon as the news reached Clemson, the ex-service men got busy and as a result one hundred and nineteen Clemson men have received Y. M. C. A. scholarships. The amount of money received by these men totals $10,700 in round numbers. Dr. Eugene R. Pendleton, State Supervisor, used the greatest possible care to see that the fund was stretched as far as possible and that the largest number of ex-service men might be benefited. The Clemson men highly appreciate the assistance given through the Y. M. C. A. scholarships.

SCRIPT DANCE ON SATURDAY EVENING

A script dance given in the college gym on last Saturday evening terminated a week of social festivities. About fifteen young adies, who were week-end visitors at the college, and the campus ladies constituted the members of the fairer sex who were present at the dance.

The dance was planned almost instantaneously and was characterized, as is all dances of this nature, by the congeniality of all present. No formality; just a good old-fashioned dance.

The permit was obtained upon the recommendation of Lt. Van Horn Durfee. The dance began at 8:30 and lasted till 11:00. The music was furnished by the "Jungle Seven."

The "toddling king" and the lovers of the "collegiate heel" strutted themselves until their hearts were full. Approximately forty-five cadets attended this dance, and all declared it to be a remarkable success.

HAYNE.

On last Friday night a very delightful program was given in the Hayne Society and all the members were delightfully entertained. A very interesting oration was given by Mr. W. A. Carver, and he was followed by Mr. R. W. Bailey who read a very appropriate selection. Mr. E. F. Gettys contributed much to the program by a very good essay. The joker, Mr. E. W. Copeland, told many humorous jokes that were appreciated by all. The debate, "Resolved, that a law, providing for the reduction of cotton acreage, should be passed in the cotton growing states of the South," was thoroughly discussed. Messrs. G. H. Melton and J. C. Owens spoke very ably for the affirmative, while Messrs. T. L. McMeekin and L. F. Watson upheld the negative. The judges decided in favor of the negative. Immediately after the debate the following officers for the third term were elected: R. W. Bailey, President; W. A. Carver, Vice President; F. Gettys, Prosecuting Critic; Literary Critic; S. C. McMeekin, Chaplain; R. Hipp, Recording Secretary; J. R. Hollowell, Corresponding Secretary; T. P. Wallace, Sergeant-at-arms. After short talks by two visitors, the society adjourned.

WADE HAMPTON.

At the usual time this society held its interesting meeting. The program was very good, every man evidently trying to do better than all the rest. Mr. Huggins entertained the society with a well delivered and well selected declamation. Mr. O'Neill very creditably filled his place as joker. He had a good selection of jokes and told them in a very humorous manner. Mr. E. M. Bailey read an essay which showed that he had spent a great deal of time in its preparation. The debate, "Resolved, that Ireland should be given her freedom," was a good one. The affirmative was supported by Messrs. Booser and Knight, while the negative was upheld by Messrs. Hayden and Peeples. It was extremely hard for the judges to reach a decision; but after a heated discussion they gave the decision to the affirmative. All members of the society voted that this meeting was the best one of the year.

"Why pick on me?" said the Ukulele to George Ricker.

NOTES FROM STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONFERENCE

Students From Every Part of the State Meet in Anderson.

From the 18th to the 21st of February thirteen Clemson men were privileged to be a part of one of the best Students Volunteer Conference ever held. The success of the conference may be attributed to several causes. Among the most outstanding were: the unusual ability of Anderson college in entertaining; the untiring efforts of the retiring State Volunteer President; and the general enthusiasm for the success of the conference. The men who attended this conference came back to Clemson immeasurably benefited and enthusiastic over the Christian work that was so earnestly begun at this meeting. The delegates feel that Clemson has not taken the place that she should have taken in regard to Christian work but are determined that this condition shall not long exist. The following are the resolutions which they have drawn up and which they are making every effort to realize.

Be it Resolved:
 1. That we shall pray that some Clemson graduate will soon go to the Foreign Field.
 2. That as soon as possible our Association will undertake the support of an Agricultural Missionary.
 3. That we shall work to get more men into our Mission Study Groups.
 4. That we shall secure ten or more recent missionary books to use as a circulating library—under the direction of the Mission Study Committee.

5. That we will put on a poster exhibit and try by the means of College Paper and bulletin boards to stimulate interest in Missions and spread information about them.

6. That we shall pray definitely with and for others to the end that we may have Volunteers for the Foreign Field, among the present student body.

E. F. Gettys, Delegate Leader.

CALHOUN
 The Calhoun had another good meeting on last Friday evening. Mr. Owens called the society to order, Mr. Covin led in prayer, the roll was called, and the minuate of the last meeting read and adopted. The question of the delinquent members was next discussed. Because of the holiday and the dance, the secretary had been unable to see all those who were regularly absent; therefore the action of the society on this question was postponed until the next meeting. The program for the evening consisted of an oration, "Our Opportunities in the World," by Mr. J. M. Dunlap; an essay on "Some One is Following You" by C. E. Patterson; a collection of original and timely jokes by Mr. G. C. Wofford; and the debate by Messrs. Covin and E. D. Timmons on the negative and Messrs. Gower and Jordan on the affirmative. The debate, "Resolved, that the United States should further restrict immigration to this country," was well discussed. The judges gave the decision to the affirmative. All those on the program did well and showed, by the way in which they spoke, that they had spent some time in the selection of their pieces. We are glad to note that society work is improving, and we have hopes of materially increasing the interest. A new member, Mr. G. G. Gilmer, joined the society at this meeting. Just before adjournment Messrs. Gower and Campbell volunteered to try for a place in the class day exercises. On next Friday night the Calhoun will hold the preliminaries for the Annual Celebration. A good program has been arranged, and the society extends a cordial invitation to all students to attend this meeting.

"ALL AND ONE."

In ranning around the Sunny South,
 And looking the fair ones over,
 The rolling 'stone may lose its moss,
 But experience covers the rover.
 We loved one lass in "them happy
 ----days"
 And thought life just begun.
 Now the more we see of all of them
 The less we settle to one.

First we meet Mary, with golden hair,
 Then Susie, with eyes of brown,
 Next we fall for quaint little Dot,
 The "sweetest" girl in town.
 Some we love with real intent
 And some we love for fun,
 But the more we see of all of them
 The less we settle to one.

Some day I guess I'll settle down,
 And have a nice cozy home,
 Forget about the world beyond
 And never long to roam.
 I'll have a dear little loving wife
 With a little Ford to run.
 For—I'll soon get tired of all of them
 And finally settle to one.
 H. C. W., '20.

What Is Air Pressure?

THE air is composed of molecules. They constantly bombard you from all sides. A thousand taps by a thousand knuckles will close a barn door. The taps as a whole constitute a push. So the constant bombardment of the air molecules constitutes a push. At sea-level the air molecules push against every square inch of you with a total pressure of nearly fifteen pounds.

Pressure, then, is merely a matter of bombarding molecules.

When you boil water you make its molecules fly off. The water molecules collide with the air molecules. It takes a higher temperature to boil water at sea-level than on Pike's Peak. Why? Because there are more bombarding molecules at sea-level—more pressure.

Take away all the air pressure and you have a perfect vacuum. A perfect vacuum has never been created. In the best vacuum obtainable there are still over two billion molecules of air per cubic centimeter, or about as many as there are people on the whole earth.

Heat a substance in a vacuum and you may discover properties not revealed under ordinary pressure. A new field for scientific exploration is opened.

Into this field the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company have penetrated. Thus one of the chemists in the Research Laboratories studied the disintegration of heated metals in highly exhausted bulbs. What happened to the glowing filament of a lamp, for example? The glass blackened. But why? He discovered that the metal distilled in the vacuum depositing on the glass.

This was research in pure science—research in what may be called the chemistry and physics of high vacua. It was undertaken to answer a question. It ended in the discovery of a method of filling lamp bulbs with an inert gas under pressure so that the filament would not evaporate so readily. Thus the efficient gas-filled lamp of today grew out of a purely scientific inquiry.

So, unforeseen, practical benefits often result when research is broadly applied.

ANNUAL CELEBRATION OF THE COLUMBIAN.

The Annual Celebration of the Columbian was held last Thursday evening at 7:30 in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. Mr. L. C. Chappell, the third term President, was the presiding officer. He asked Mr. Davis to conduct the devotional exercises. The first declaimer of the evening, Mr. W. F. Wyatt, spoke forcefully and clearly on "Home Rule in Ireland". Mr. J. McMahan, whose subject was "American Ideals," gave an excellent declamation. Both of these men showed that much time had been spent in preparation. Just after the declamations the Y. M. C. A. quartette gave several entertaining selections. The first orator was unable to appear; but Mr. Williams, the second orator, had a well-written selection on "This, the Opportune Day." Mr. Williams used an impressive delivery and brought out his subject matter well. At this point, there was singing by the quartette. The debate was then taken up. The query for debate, "Resolved, that aside from the question of expense, the small college is more preferable than a large college for a majority of high school graduates," was supported on the affirmative by Mr. T. W. Morgan. Mr. W. J. Stribbling, the alternate on the negative, read the debate written by Mr. D. K. Summers, who was ill at the time.

Mr. Morgan had some strong points which he brought out forcibly and at the opportune time. Mr. Summers had quite a number of strong and logical points. After the rebuttals, the judges, Rev. W. E. Davis, Prof. R. C. Thompson, and Prof. Hale Houston, decided in favor of Mr. Wyatt as declaimer and Mr. Morgan as debater. Messrs. O. W. Cain, H. L. Keyserling, and W. M. Dunlap were marshals for the occasion.

McLANE-RICHARDSON

Of greatest social interest to a host of friends is the announcement of the marriage in Waco, Texas, of Miss Jimmie McLane and Lieutenant Leaver Richardson, which was solemnized Thursday.

The ceremony was performed at high noon at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. A. McLane, in Galveston, Texas.

The bridal couple will stop for several days in New Orleans, and will be in Atlanta next week as the guests of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, at their home in Ponce de Leon avenue.

Later they will be at home in Clemson, S. C., where the groom is stationed as military instructor at Clemson College.

The bride is a lovely young girl of brunette coloring, the daughter of Mrs. J. A. McLane, and the late Mr. McLane, one of the most prominent cotton growers of Texas.

She is the elder of the two daughters and was educated at Washington, D. C.

Several years ago she was queen of the Waco Cotton Palace, and this fall was lady in waiting to the queen of the Houston, Texas pageant, representing the city of Waco.
